In the original edition of this genealogy there is no word to show by whom it was compiled, or who it was who gave the time and trouble and patience to collect the genealogical record for the benefit of the "Descendants of Nath'l Russell Sturgis."

This omission is peculiarly characteristic of the modesty and reserve of the man who did it, but those who have been separated from him by time or space should know to whom they owe appreciation and gratitude for information, the compiling of which was no small task.

Francis Shaw Sturgis (b. Aug. 15, 1853) was a man of rare type and individuality. For the last thirty years of his life a great and increasing sufferer, no word of complaint was ever heard to pass his lips nor, as one pleasure and activity after another was necessarily abandoned, did he lose interest in people or events, or lessen his ready sympathy in the joys and sorrows of others. His wit was marvellously keen and spontaneous, utterly without malice, and never at the expense of others, while his sense of humour was a God-given gift that through all the long years of his suffering and renunciation stayed with him to the very end.

All his life, his interest in the Sturgis family was far wider and deeper than genealogical only, and in spite of his semi-invalid life, he kept more or less in touch with its branches near and far. Had he only consented, as he was often urged to do, to write his Memoirs, we should have had an inimitable picture of friends and relatives, and a "human document" that would have far more than held its own with the innumerable biographies and autobiographies that are poured out today.

He worked upon the first edition of the genealogy for many years, and finally published it in 1900. He had always looked forward to having it carried on at some future date, and had asked that data should be sent to him from time to time that he might have the material ready for a new and up-to-date edition, but his increasing illness made it impossible for him to keep the work in hand, and after the year 1902 there were but few entries made in the book, and but little attempt to keep the material received by him in order.

Shortly after his death on November 8, 1922, the following letter was found among his papers and sent to me by his sister, Mrs. Henry Bigelow Williams.

To Mrs. R. Clipston Sturgis

Mar. 16, 1922.

Dear May

My long illness has interfered sadly with my keeping the data of "The Descendants of Natl. Russell Sturgis" up to date, and I feel that upon my death I would like to turn over to you my copy of the book and all "addenda" in the shape of notes (in my book) to get into shape, and keep up if you feel so inclined. . . .

Affly.

F. S. STURGIS.

It is a matter of very real gratification that Frank should have cared to entrust me with an undertaking so near to his heart, and I gladly accepted the trust, but feeling my inadequacy to fulfil it unaided, I asked John H. Sturgis to help me, and it is but scant justice to say that much of what is of value or merit in this new edition is owing to his generous assistance.

INTRODUCTION

TO EDITION OF JANUARY, 1925

In the introduction to the original printing of this book in 1900, some early English genealogy was quoted; but when Roger Faxton Sturgis printed in 1914 "Edward Sturgis and His Descendants," certain reasons were shown for discarding it as our ancestry, and it was surmised, with some corroborative evidence, that the first of the name in Plymouth County was the EDWARD STURGIS who was born near Canterbury in England of John Sturges (son of "Edward Sturgis alias Turges," about 1557-1624), who married Margaret Austin, November 28, 1608. This Edward was baptized at Woodnesborough, Kent, January 20, 1613/14, and appears to have come to America and to have been the one who received at Charlestown, Massachusetts, January 10, 1634/5 a grant of four acres of land. He is mentioned frequently in the Records of Plymouth Colony, holding several town offices in Yarmouth where, on May 7, 1646, he was "lycensed to keep an ordinary and draw wyne." He was twice elected a Deputy to the General Court, and died in Sandwich in 1695. He appears to have married (1640) Elizabeth Hinckley, who came to New England with her uncle Samuel Hinckley early in 1635. From "Edward Sturgis and His Descendants," most of the following incomplete information is drawn.

THOMAS STURGIS, youngest son of Edward Sturgis, died at Barnstable, June 30, 1708, aged 48 years 6 months, as shown on his gravestone. He married (1681) Abigail Lothrop. For nine years he was a Deputy to the General Court at Plymouth.

THOMAS STURGIS, eldest son of Thomas and Abigail Sturgis, was born April 4, 1686, and died at Barnstable December 18, 1763. He married December 26, 1717, Martha Russell, daughter of Rev. Jonathan Russell of Barnstable.

THOMAS STURGIS, eldest son of Thomas and Martha Sturgis, was "born a Sabath day on July 22, 1722," and died October 16, 1785. He married January 24, 1745, Sarah Paine of Barnstable, daughter of William Paine and Sarah Bacon. They had six sons and three daughters.

RUSSELL STURGIS, of Barnstable, second son of Thomas and Sarah Sturgis, was born August 27, 1750, and died September 7, 1826. He married at Barnstable, November 13, 1773, Elizabeth Perkins, born January 18, 1756, died September 18, 1843. She was the oldest of eight children of James Perkins and Elizabeth Peck, daughter of Thomas Handasyd Peck of Boston, about whom information is given in "From Books and Papers of Russell Sturgis," by his son Julian Sturgis, printed in 1893. After her husband's death in Boston, May 8, 1773, Mrs. Perkins with her large family had taken refuge as a guest with her husband's friend, Squire Edward Bacon of Barnstable. There her eldest daughter, seventeen years old, met and married Russell Sturgis, a youth of twenty-three. They lived together fifty-two years, until he died at the age of seventy-six. She bore him sixteen children, and died seventeen years after her husband, at the age of eighty-seven. Russell Sturgis went to Boston with his wife and her family, where he entered business and amassed a fortune. Of this great family, two only, Anne Cushing Sturgis and Nathaniel Russell Sturgis, left issue now surviving.

ANNE CUSHING STURGIS, born April 30, 1797, died January 4, 1892, married May 5, 1822, Frederick William Paine of Worcester, who died September 16, 1869. She lived in Worcester to the age of ninety-four, whither many of her descendants made pilgrimages. She was known as Aunt Nancy to four succeeding generations, of whose names and relationships she had a marvellous memory.

NATHANIEL RUSSELL STURGIS, second son of Russell and Elizabeth Sturgis, was born February 17, 1779, and died September 27, 1856. He married September 11, 1804, Susanna Parkman, born June 4, 1780, died October 16, 1827. She was his next-door neighbor on Tremont Row in Boston, daughter of Samuel Parkman. They had twelve children, and before he died eight had married and two had died young. His oldest sons, Russell and Henry, had made fortunes in the Far East and both had buried their wives in Manila. Russell had married a third time and was firmly settled for the rest of his life in England, where he was a partner in Baring Brothers & Co., succeeding their American partner, Joshua Bates, whose wife was his father's first cousin.

This book is printed to show full tables of the descendants of NATHANIEL RUSSELL STURGIS, revised to January 1, 1925.

THE DESCENDANTS

The first edition of this genealogy was published in 1900, and to re-measure the spreading branches of the genealogical tree at the end of the exact quarter of a century is both fitting and proper.

In view of the apparent sentiment of many of the younger generations, it seems possible that at the end of another quarter of a century it will be considered a species of disgrace to have a genealogical record at all; the favoured individual will be he who rests, rather lonesomely in the eyes of some of us, upon his own merits, and only those who have laboured with their hands will be assessed as valuable. If this be true, I would offer to the Sturgis posterity an assured proof that they come of no effete race, but of a stock that learned and laboured truly to get their own living and to do their duty in that state of life to which it pleased God to call them.

In some contemporary letters of about 1803 or 1804 interchanged between a member of the Sturgis family and a connexion of another name, the latter made enquiry as to who the father of a certain Sturgis might be.

"That Sturgis," replied the relative, "was a most worthy and respectable gentleman, whose calling was that of a hatter - and very bad hats he made," was his own reflective comment.

So, from whatever point the descendants of Nathaniel Russell Sturgis may view their ancestry, from that of labour or that of capital, they may, if they will, find satisfaction in the continuance of this record, and as Frank Sturgis passed on to me this labour of ancestral appreciation, so I pass it on to George Sturgis of Boston and Weston (A9, B4, C1) to whom, I suggest, the scattered members of the family should send their data from time to time, that at the end of another twenty-five years the branches of the family tree may again be re-measured.

ESTHER MARY (by grace STURGIS, through A1, B1, C3)

THE DESCENDANTS

TO USE THIS BOOK, look at the first and second pages and see the scheme of cross-references.

You know from which of the children of Nathaniel Russell Sturgis you are descended, and will be able to trace your forbears by the pages indicated, until you find the first appearance of your own name, and that will give you reference to its second appearance.

That is where the marker ought to be used. Insert it at once where your name appears, and leave it there forever after.

Then when you want to look up anything, you can turn to it. When you want to add the record of a birth, a marriage, or a death, you can find the place for it, and then at once notify George Sturgis at Weston.

Send him wedding invitations and announcements, also printed birth and death notices and obituary articles.

But the first thing I want you to do is to see if all your family's entries are right. They ought to be, we hope they are, but do catch an error if you can and tell me about it at once, so that I may get out a comprehensive sheet of errata in the near future.

We apologize to our relations whose titles we have omitted. We had not time to get them all, and get them right.

We have put a lot into this work, and hope you get something out.

JOHN H. STURGIS
